THE MAN IN A HURRY.

How He May Make Himself a Decidedly Capable Person.

A stout and determined looking man with white chin whiskers, gray hair brushed severely back from his forehead and gold spectacles on his prominent nose entered a restaurant in Fourteenth street at the "rush" hour and strode rapidly to one of the tables at which there was a vacant seat. He hung a stout cane on the back of the chair and was diverting himself of his overcoat when he happened to notice that the waiter was about leaving the table with orders for the other men.

"Hold on a minute, young feller, and take my order, too," he shouted. "Bring me some lunch, with canned eggs on it, and a couple of sinkers and some coffee in a hurry."

Then he finished taking off his overcoat and tried to hang it on what he probably thought was a peg of the back, but he hit on the end of his cane instead, and the coat flopped down on the floor, while the cane, after knocking several hats off the rack, fell on the head of a man near the wall and then bounded on the table with force enough to break several dishes and scatter coffee and gravy about promiscuously. The men at the table picked up their hats and began to say unpleasant things, but they were quickly aware to silence by the stout man, who declared with a fob-born voice:

"It's an infernal outrage for a man to keep such a racket as this in his place. If I was running this house, I'd see that there'd be decent arrangements for folks who patronized it."

Then he slammed his cane back on the rack, hung his overcoat on a peg and sat down to glare at the waiter, who cleared away the broken dishes and wiped up the spilled coffee and gravy with fresh napkins. Two minutes after the waiter had left the table the stout man began to grumble.

"I guess," he said, "that he has gone down town to buy the meat to make that hash with. He must have been born late in a hurry. I said I was in a hurry, and now I suppose he will take all day. If I don't get what I ordered right away, I'm going to leave."

Then the waiter came with the hash, sinkers and coffee, and the stout man made them disappear in a way that showed he was a "hustler." When his jaws had ceased to work, he yelled for his check and made a grab at his overcoat and cane. There was another shower of hats from the rack, but the man in a hurry did not stop to pick them up. He evidently was too angry to say more. The other men did not try to detain him, but one of them said:

"That man must have been born before daylight."

There were some expressions of assent to the remark, and then another man rounded it off with the declaration, "And he is trying the best he knows how to make other men wish he never had been born at all."—New York Tribune.

White Girls' Marriages With Indians.
Of the two New England girls who attracted notice a few years ago by wedding Indians, one, Nora Belle Fellows, the former school teacher, has found life unbearable with the Sioux in Alaska and has left her husband. The other, Elaine Goodale, the poet, found life on an Indian reservation unbearable and has come east with her husband. The result in both cases seems to show the non-success attendant on attempted affiliation of Indian savagery and white civilization.—Boston Home Journal.

Petroleum in England.
The discovery of petroleum oil in Somerset excites great interest. Experts who have descended the well at Ashwick Court are confident that a large deposit of crude petroleum exists, and farther borings are to be made to test the succession of the oil bearing strata. This well is on the north side of the Mendips hills, and other indications of oil have been found along the same line.—Philadelphia Press.

Sordid.
That word, which has been staring everybody in the face for the past years, and is now getting into everybody's mouth, is a preparation for cleansing, beautifying and preserving the teeth, sweetening the breath and arresting the progress of decay.

A PERPLEXING QUESTION.

The threatened incursion of the industrial army is causing some uneasiness at Washington. There is a wide difference of opinion as to what constitutes the right to assemble at the Capital and petition Congress for redress of grievances. Able lawyers, one of whom is Senator Allen of Nebraska, are of the opinion that the people have the unquestioned right to peaceably assemble in Washington, discuss their grievances and petition for redress. Senator Hawley of Connecticut, a fiery military man, says Allen's opinion should not be allowed to go forth to the country as representing in any degree the views of the Senate. He criticizes Allen for his reference to the industrial army, as the people. He asserted that the men who were on their way to Washington did not represent the views of the people. Senator Peffer thought a committee on communications should be appointed to receive the army, but a resolution to appoint such a committee was voted down.

In the House of Representatives Boen of Minnesota introduced a resolution to instruct the Secretary of War to provide a camping ground for all organized bodies of laboring people who may come within the District of Columbia and to see that their rights as citizens are respected, during their stay. He thinks it is the duty of the government to maintain the peace, and believes that peace and good will can be secured by concessions and recognition by the government, as well as by individuals, of the rights of citizens, and by extending all possible aid to them in their endeavors to secure such redress as they may consider themselves entitled to.

Representative Davis of Kansas has introduced a bill directing the Secretary of War to enlist 500,000 men in an industrial volunteer army to serve for one year, the army to be fed, clothed and paid as regular soldiers, and be employed on public works, such as canals, rivers, harbors, public highways, etc. To defray the expenses of this army the Secretary of the Treasury is directed to issue $50,000,000 of federal tender notes, redeemable at the pleasure of the government.

No definite plan has yet been agreed upon for providing for the immediate wants of the army. Public sentiment is against using the military to disperse the army by force when it arrives at Washington, and so long as the men do not violate the law they cannot be arrested and imprisoned. A determined effort will be made to prevent them from arriving in Washington in any considerable numbers, and railroads centering in that city will not permit them to ride on their trains unless they pay full fare.

THE UNION PACIFIC DEBT.

F. Ellery Anderson, who visited this Coast some years ago as a member of a commission appointed by the President to investigate the affairs of the railroads subsidized by the United States, is now one of the government directors and receivers of the Union Pacific railroad. He has been before the House Committee on Pacific Railroads this week and outlined a scheme to settle the Union Pacific indebtedness to the government. This scheme is for the road to issue bonds to liquidate its entire indebtedness, the government to take enough bonds to satisfy its debt, and the balance to be used for the settlement of the road's indebtedness to private individuals.

Another scheme is being formulated by a committee of creditors of the road, and will be submitted to Congress next week. The bill embodying the government's plan of settlement is now being prepared by the Attorney General and will be ready next Friday. The Committee on Pacific Railroads will then consider the bill and hear arguments for and against it. Some legislation will be necessary before Congress adjourns, as the first installment of government bonds issued in aid of the construction of the road will become due next January, and the bonds are payable at maturity.

OF INTEREST TO SECRET SOCIETIES.

The Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Kansas levied a per capita tax on members of the order within its jurisdiction to maintain an Odd Fellows' Home. Reno Lodge refused to pay the tax and the case was taken into the Courts. The District Court at Topeka, Judge Hazen presiding, has rendered a decision sustaining the action of the Grand Lodge. The Court holds that the Sovereign Grand Lodge is authorized to make a levy and that the Grand Lodge of Kansas has a right to fix the amount of the assessment.

The decision is of national interest as it not only affects the Order of Odd Fellows but all secret societies, as it establishes the right of Grand Lodges to levy assessments and fix the amount per capita.

The earthquake shocks in Greece continue. Whole villages are in ruins and the destruction is general. The people are camping in the open fields, and many persons are entirely destitute. The number of deaths so far as reported is 227. The shocks are lighter than at first, and it is hoped the worst is over.

DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

Gloomy Outlook For Crops in California.

PENNSYLVANIA AMAZONS.

Practical Test Made of Dowe's Bullet-Proof Coat.

CROPS IN CALIFORNIA

Seriously Damaged by the Drouth. SACRAMENTO, April 24.—The following is a summary of the crop and weather bulletins received by the Director of the State Weather Bureau for the week ending Monday: The average temperature during the week ending April 24 was for San Francisco 64, Eureka 64, Red Bluff 64, Sacramento 63, Fresno 66, Los Angeles 62 and San Diego 58. As compared with the normal temperature there was a deficiency of heat at San Francisco of 2 degrees, and at San Diego of 1 degree, while an excess of heat over the normal was reported at the following points: Eureka 7 degrees, (which appears to be an error in the telegram), Red Bluff 3, and Los Angeles 1.

This excess of heat over the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, along with the contiguous drying northerly winds and the lack of rain has very much intensified the need of moisture, and all cereal crops, pasture and hay are rapidly reaching that point from which recuperation is impossible, except in a few favorable spots in the Sacramento valley.

During the early part of the week light frosts were reported over the greater portion of the State north of the Tehachapi range of mountains; however, very little damage has resulted therefrom.

The fruit prospects are extremely good. The cherry crop is reported to be the largest in many years. This extremely dry and unusual dry spell continues and bakes the ground so hard that summer-fallowing has been abandoned, as also the cultivation of the vineyards and orchards, all of which suffer to some extent thereby. The outlook is certainly very serious for the grain and hay crops, and for pasture also, which has caused a great portion of the State to look more like the condition in August rather than April.

The highest and lowest temperatures were 102 near Tulare and 26 at Arvin in Kern county. The slight rainfall on Sunday in the coast counties, from Los Angeles to Humboldt, did no good as the amount was too small to be beneficial.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Debate on the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—After the morning hour the tariff bill was laid before the Senate, and Senator Mills of Texas took the floor. There was a good attendance, this being the last day of debate on the bill as a whole. Senator Mills opened by saying that the bill did not entirely meet his approval, but it was necessary as a matter of compromise. He might offer some amendments, but if they were rejected he should vote for the bill. It was a parliamentary measure and every Democrat should sink his own preferences. He would, he said, have levied a duty on tea, coffee and sugar. The Democratic theory was that the government should insure to every man the enjoyment of every natural right. He would have put on the free list all articles that require manufacture or consumption. If that was not sufficient he would have put a tax on accumulated wealth. All objects in the way of the employment of labor should be stricken down. The policy of protection, he argued, had failed to build the market for agriculture.

HOUSE. In the House Bartholdt of Missouri rose to a question of privilege, and sent to the Clerk's desk a resolution passed at a mass meeting in St. Louis declaring Chas. S. Joy illegally deprived of his seat. McMillin raised the point that the resolution did not involve a question of privilege. O'Neill objected to the attack and demanded the floor as a matter of privilege and was proceeding to reply to the imputation that he had obtained a seat to which he was not entitled, when Wise of Virginia raised the point that O'Neill was out of order and the Speaker ordered O'Neill to take his seat.

PENNSYLVANIA AMAZONS.

They Charge on a Sheriff's Posses. UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 24.—Sheriff Wilson and a posse arrested Michael Fitzko for a minor offense when fifty women assembled and demanded his release. The officers warned the women not to interfere.

The answer was a yell of defiance and then the whole crowd of women charged the sheriff, attacking him with every conceivable kind of missile except firearms. Blood was flowing from a number of the men and they were forced to fight back.

Mrs. Fitzko, the leader of the furies, rushed at Deputy Sheriff Richards with an upturned ax. He evaded the blow and knocked her senseless with a revolver, and she fell to the ground with blood gushing from a gash in the forehead. The cry was raised that she was killed, but she soon revived.

A number of the women were felled by blows from maces, others were stabbed with bayonets or beaten with the stocks of rifles, and the sheriff had great difficulty in preventing the men from shooting them down like demons. The situation at Oliver to-night is alarming.

Tailor Dowe's Armor.

BERLIN, April 24.—The Mannheim tailor, Dowe, gave an exhibition of his bullet-proof coat yesterday before the Surgeons' Congress, which is now in session here. The bullet fired at a twenty-five-foot range failed to penetrate the coat or even startle Dowe, who was inside it. When the test was over Dowe was applauded heartily, and several members of the congress spoke flatteringly of his invention.

Telegraphic Notes.

The McKenzie plating mills were burned yesterday at Benicia.

Frank Hatton, the famous editor of the Washington Post, was stricken with paralysis yesterday. His condition is very critical.

Albert Beck, a former law partner of Congressman Byrum, was murdered at Indianapolis yesterday by an unknown person.

Cousin General Polk of Calcutta has forwarded the State Department a copy of a new tariff law which has been enacted in India.

Cousin General Mason at Frankfurt in his report to the State Department has recommended that our fruit preservers try fruit sugar made from beets. It is a limpid white syrup which will preserve the flavor of fruit indefinitely.

The examination of the Italian anarchists, Politi and Ferrari, took place at London yesterday. Letters found in the room of the latter indicate that he was intending to commit a dynamite outrage on the 16th of May. Both prisoners were remanded.

Great Britain is favoring a proposed solution of the Samoan question by placing the Islands under control of New Zealand. The latter country is desirous of the change and it is thought the benefits resulting from the transfer of the protectorate to New Zealand would accrue to this country and Germany as well as England.

Statements were published in New York yesterday that the Nicaragua government had seized the property of the Nicaragua Canal Co. at Greytown to satisfy judgment for an alleged debt of $75,000. The Washington officials were unable either to affirm or deny the statement having received no official notification to that effect.

William McGarran, the celebrated claimant to the New London mine grant, died yesterday at Washington. He has been a familiar figure at the Capital for years endeavoring to get an act through Congress permitting a trial of his rig to the property in the Court of Claims. Several bills have passed one or the other of the two houses and scores of committees have reported favorably to his claim. During President Harrison's term an enabling act passed, but was vetoed on a technicality.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

M. Hammerly, a well-known business man of Hingham, Mass., writes this testimonial for the merits of Ayer's Sarsaparilla: "Several years ago I hurt my leg, the injury leaving a sore which led to erysipelas. My sufferings were extreme, my leg from the knee to the ankle, being a solid sore, which began to extend to other parts of the body. After trying various remedies, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and before I had finished the first bottle, I experienced great relief; the second bottle effected a complete cure."

PROBATE NOTICE.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF NEVADA, in and for Washoe county. In the matter of the estate of Esther Ann Steele, deceased; Sophia S. Henley and Alexander Steele, heirs at law, vs. said Court a document purporting to be an exemplified copy of the last will and testament of said Esther Ann Steele, deceased, with a petition praying that the same be admitted to probate and that letters testamentary thereon be issued to them, and the Court having made an order fixing Saturday, May 5th, 1894, as the time for proving the same, notice is therefore given that Saturday, the 5th day of May, 1894, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the Court-house in Reno, Nevada, has been fixed as the time and place for proving said document, when and where all persons interested may appear and show cause, if any they have, why said document should not be admitted to probate and recognized as the last will and testament of said Esther Ann Steele, deceased, and letters testamentary thereon be issued as prayed for. By order of the Court, J. C. LANDO, Clerk.

WEDDINGS IN WALES.

Some Curious Marriage Customs That Still Exist Among the Peasantry.

Some quaint customs still survive among the peasantry of south Wales—at least in the remote villages. One of the oldest is the "bidding." When a young man and woman are engaged, a circular is printed—known as a "bidding letter"—and distributed at market and outside the chapels on Sunday, so that all may know of the event. The form is always the same and runs as follows:

As we intend to enter the matrimonial state, we are encouraged by our friends to make a bidding on the occasion of the young man's first house (here follow the address and date of the entertainment), when and where the favor of your good and agreeable company is most humbly solicited, and whatever donation you may be pleased to bestow on us will be thankfully received, warmly acknowledged and cheerfully repaid whenever called for on a similar occasion by your obedient servants,

JOHN EVANS,
JANE DAVIS.

All being ready on the day, a party goes to fetch the bride to the bidding. She hides and has to be sought for in all directions. But being at last found is escorted in triumph. Her procession is met by that of the bridegroom, and they all repair to the church, where the wedding ceremony takes place, after which all return to the groom's house to make merry and to count the gifts. These are generally in money and vary from a shilling up to half a sovereign.

Each item is carefully entered in a book by the "bidding clerk," together with the donor's name, so that it may be repaid when he or she marries. As all the money will probably not be called in for many years—some not at all, if the givers remain single—the young couple receive a tolerable start in life. Oddly enough, the bridegroom is expected to provide the kitchen clock and table, the glass cupboard and the kitchen dresser, also the bedstead. Each of the young people is supposed to bring half a dozen chairs, the bride's special contribution being the bedding, the groom's being the parlor table and a chest of drawers. Things are done methodically in that part of the world.—London Tit-Bits.

THE GREAT DESERT.
THE AREA OF SAHARA NEARLY EQUAL TO THAT OF EUROPE.

A Barrier to the Progress of Civilization Which Engineering Skill is Trying to Overcome - The Important Point is the Solution of the African Problem.

We have but to look upon the map to see how large a space upon the world's surface this mighty desert takes to itself. It covers more square miles than the whole of the Mediterranean. If it were transported across that sea, it would extinguish Europe, for it has been computed that if you leave out Scandinavia it would nearly cover the whole of it. If it were only sunk in the sea, the waves would roll over it, and it would be remembered no more forever.

But it insists on keeping its head above water and above ground, crowding out fertile portions of the earth, while its barrenness renders it unfit for human habitation. There it lies on the face of Africa, a huge black spot, deserted by man, as it seems to be accursed by God. No man passes by it or willingly puts his foot thereon. Even the lonely caravan that skirts it like a bird leaves no track behind it any more than the bird in the air or the ship on the sea.
It passes and is gone, leaving not a trace of life in man or beast or bird or any living thing. So far as we can see, the desert is an utterly worthless portion of the globe.

With such an incubus covering half of northern Africa there would seem to be little hope of making anything out of it, since the cause which renders it so hopeless cannot be removed. You cannot abolish the desert any more than you can abolish the sea. There it is, and there it will remain forever. Yes, but you can get over the sea in ships or under it by telegraphs, so that it is no longer a bar to the intercourse of nations. Is there any way of taming the desert or subduing it so that it shall no longer be a barrier to the progress of civilization? This is the most important question to be settled as bearing upon the future of Africa.

Of course if it were left to the native inhabitants all things would continue as they were from the beginning of creation. Nor has Europe at large any interest in it. But there is one European power that has an interest in it. France has large possessions on this side of the Mediterranean. Algeria and Tunis together make a country as large as one of the kingdoms of Europe, which France has the ambition to enlarge still further, so as to have a great African empire, as England has her Indian empire. As part of the materials for this she has another great dependency in Senegambia, on the western coast, a country covering 400,000 square miles.
If this could in any way be united to Algeria, if the two could be consolidated, the new "empire" would at once assume vast proportions. But the desert blocks the way. It splits the proposed empire like a wedge. It cannot be removed, but is there not some way in which it can be converted into a keystone for the mighty arch that is to span the continent from the Mediterranean to the Atlantic? That is the problem which has long exercised the minds of French statesmen, and which they in turn have referred to their engineers, who are among the best in the world, with what result may be briefly indicated.

First of all, they have shown that it is possible to convert portions of the desert into oases by the sinking of artesian wells. A hundred and forty miles south of Biskra is the oasis of Tegart, which has long supported thousands of Arabs, with their flocks and herds, but which was nearly destroyed some years since by the wells becoming so choked up as to no longer furnish a supply of water. Vegetation withered until the wretched people, stripped of what was to them the very water of life and too ignorant to be able to renew the supply, were in despair and began to leave the country.

Then the French engineers took the matter in hand and instead of trying to clear out the old wells commenced boring the solid earth and in five weeks struck water to such a good purpose that a new quantity furnished by the great well of Grenelle at Paris. To the Arabs it seemed a miracle, and they began to sing and dance in the wildest manner to express their joy. The miracle is one that can be wrought wherever men are willing to take the labor to bear the expense. Of course to accomplish a large result in the way of artificial irrigation it would have to be repeated on a tremendous scale.

But for the purpose of uniting the two vast territories of Algeria and Senegam-bia the first necessity is that of direct communication, which can only be by a railroad across the desert of Sahara. Is this within the bounds of possibility?
Nobody's opinion is of any value except that of an engineer, and that I have tried to obtain. In Algeria the American consul took me to see Mr. Brou-nais, who has made a special study of the subject and taken long journeys into the desert to survey the field of battle.

He did not conceal from himself the enormous difficulties of traveling 1,500 miles with the want of water, the want of wood for railroad ties, the want of everything. He looked in the face of the possibilities of these vast deserts, and yet, looking all obstacles and all difficulties in the face, he did not hesitate to assure me that in his judgment a railroad across the desert of Sahara was quite within the resources of modern engineering.

But were the dream already fulfilled, the desert crossed and the tide of travel in full course, the whole African problem would not be solved. This would lead toward it. - Cor. Evangelist.

BALD HEADS!

What is the condition of yours? Is your hair dry, harsh, brittle? Does it split at the ends? Has it a lifeless appearance? Does it fall out when combed or brushed? Is it full of dandruff? Do your scalp itch?
Is it dry or in a heated condition? If these are some of your symptoms be warned in time or you will become bald.

Skookum Root Hair Grower is what you need. Its production is not an accident, but the result of scientific research. Knowledge of the diseases of the hair and scalp led to the discovery of how to treat them. "Skookum" contains neither minerals nor oils. It is not a dye, but a delightfully cooling and refreshing tonic. By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads.

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating eruptions, by the use of Skookum Skin Soap. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on and destroy the hair.

If your druggist cannot supply you send direct to us, and we will forward prompt, on receipt of price. "Grower," $1.00 per bottle; "Saver," 50c. Soap, 50c. per jar; 4 for $2.00.

A DARING RESCUE.

Three Men Taken From an Ice Floe Which Was Carrying Them to Certain Death.

Captain L. O. Lawson, William P.
Ray and W. W. Wilkinson, members of the Evanston life saving crew, had a narrow escape from death the other morning while attempting to clear an anchor ice away from the waterworks inlet. The men were in a small rowboat and were caught between large cakes of floating ice and carried two miles out into the lake. After a hard fight with the floating ice they were rescued by a volunteer party consisting of Sam Peoper, chief engineer of the Evanston waterworks; John Moore, the lighthouse keeper, and Bob Shyles and Byron Dawson, crew men at the waterworks.

Early in the morning water was running very slowly into the large main, and fearing another water famine Captain Lawson and his companions started for the intake, which is one mile offshore. A heavy wind had been blowing inshore all night before, and the shore was lined with great cakes of ice. After working hard the men succeeded in hauling their boat and started toward the bubbling caudex for the inlet.
When about half the distance had been covered, the men noticed that the wind had changed and was blowing hard from offshore, and that a large field of ice was forming in a solid mass about their little craft and floating rapidly into the lake. The poles were used, but it soon became apparent that unless some aid came soon they would be carried far out.

A white handkerchief was tied to an oar, and the men took turns waving it.
The signal was seen by John Moore, who was at work at the top of the light-house tower. He hurried to the waterworks, a short distance away, and told Engineer Peoper, and both men, realizing the danger in which their comrades were, called Shyles and Dawson, and hurriedly launching another boat the four men started to the rescue. The offshore wind by this time had cleared the shore water, and the rescuing party soon reached the ice floe, in the center of which was the boat containing the three men. A line was thrown across to the prisoners, and one after another they jumped from cake to cake and crossed the narrow channel. They were safe and sound on shore, and the four men who had risked their lives to save them were hailed as heroes.

A Man at Far Rockaway Wins in a Struggle With a Fighting Sea Dog.

Charles Silas of the Delmore House at Far Rockaway, L. I., killed a sea dog on Wednesday while walking along the beach. Mr. Silas, taking advantage of the fine weather, started to walk along the water's edge on the inlet of the peninsula. When near what is known as Hog island, he saw an animal somewhat resembling a seal lying asleep on the sands.
The animal was of a yellowish white, with black rings on his back.

The animal was sunning itself and was distracted by the approach of Mr. Silas.
It started toward him, showing its teeth.
The only weapon Mr. Silas had was a small stick. This was snapped in two by the sharp fangs of the animal, and the sea dog, or whatever it was, attempted to bite Mr. Silas. Mr. Silas struck the animal on the head with his fist and stunned it. Before it recovered he obtained a heavy club, and when it rushed at him again he struck it on the head and killed it.

The animal had a long, snoutlike nose, with whiskers about the nostrils. The ears were short and rounded. The forelegs were short, with long, sharp claws.
The hind legs were dexterlike. The tail was short, and the entire body was covered with short, coarse hair. Mr. Silas secured the carcass and will have it stuffed.
Several other people report having seen similar animals along the south-shore. - New York Tribune.

Let it run and your cough may result in something serious. It's pretty sure to it, if your blood is poor. That is just the time and condition that invites consumption. The seeds are sown and it has fastened its hold upon you,

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE State of Nevada, in and for Washoe Co.
The State of Nevada, sends to John A. Garg-greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant, by John A. Garg, as plaintiff, in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service). If served in mid-county, or twenty days after service of said summons, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. This action is brought to recover a judgment and costs of the State of Nevada, against you, in the sum of one hundred and thirty dollars and costs, A. D. 1894, you willfully and without any excuse, deserted and abandoned the plaintiff, and has ever since continued to do so, and deserted and abandoned the plaintiff, without sufficient cause or reason and against her will and consent. Plaintiff alleging that you intermarried with plaintiff at Johnson county, Missouri, on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1894, and have ever since been husband and wife; that she is now and for more than one year past she has been a resident of Washoe county, Nevada; that there are three minor children living the issue of said marriage. Plaintiff also alleges that said marriage was void from the beginning, and that said plaintiff will appear and answer to the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said court, at Reno, in said county, and which you are ordered to attend. And you are notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint the plaintiff will apply to the court for a relief demanded.

In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of said court, this 10th day of February, A. D. 1894.
of February, A. D. 1894.
Clerk of the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county.
